

#341: Walking the Plank

Piracy is much in the news these days, which brings to mind classic tales of Blackbeard, memories of reading "Treasure Island," and watching "Peter Pan." Seems like the pirates were always making recalcitrant prisoners walk the plank, usually by threatening them with vicious swords.

Which makes you wonder why this guy is doing it on purpose.